

LITTLE CHANGE IN DEADLOCK.

Alameda Delegation Could Not Come to Any Agreement.

By GEORGE F. HATTON.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Not since the first days of the balloting has there been so much excitement over the Senatorial contest as has developed during the past twenty-four hours. The break to Bulla at noon yesterday was the first open signal that something out of the ordinary was going on and this was followed later by all kinds of Senatorial rumors as to what was in the wind.

One story that was circulated was that Burns had formed an alliance with Bulla and was paying the way to throw his votes in that direction, while another rumor was that it was all a play on the part of the Burns men to turn the head of Bulla and his forces and get them into a caucus.

No one, however, can question the fact that there is a strong undercurrent in favor of Bulla, especially among those members of the Legislature who served with him two or four years ago and that as a compromise candidate he would be fully as acceptable as anybody else who might be named. Just how many more votes will go to him within the next few days is hard to say—some state with confidence that there are two members ready to join his standard at any time, while others declare that the present movement in his behalf has no stability to it and is simply born of a desire to shake things up and see if there is not a possibility to break the deadlock that has occurred between the two leaders.

Senator Bulla himself is naturally much elated over the turn of the tide towards him for to pick up four votes in one day is a feat that any Senatorial candidate might well be proud of at this stage of the game. In conversation with your correspondent, he expressed himself as well pleased with the condition of his fight and added: "I came to Sacramento with three objects in view. First, to be elected United States Senator. Second, show that a poor man can come to Sacramento and without the use of money become a prominent factor in a Senatorial fight. Third, to show that a man who, as a member of the Legislature, serves the people honestly and faithfully can come to the front in a contest for so high an honor as the Senatorship. The last two of these three points, I have accomplished, the first, I hope to."

GRANT PEOPLE NOT PLEASED OVER BULLA'S GAINS

Over in Grant's headquarters when the news arrived of the break to Bulla, dismay was for a moment struck into the hearts of all. On first glance it looks as if there was going to be a general break and in view of the unpleasant developments in connection with the Wright investigation fears were entertained that all their work had gone for naught.

Later in the day rumors got about that seven of the Grant men had decided to break away from him on the first roll-call Friday. The names of Charles B. Greenwell, of Huene, and C. W. Merrill of Santa Barbara were whispered around as two of the prospective deserters and it was said that their votes were to be cast for Bard so as to work up a sentiment if possible in his favor as a compromise candidate from Southern California.

The story looked plausible enough for Greenwell and Bard live in the same town while Merrill also resides in what may be considered the same locality. As further corroboration that the rumors were true it is stated that he was for Bard, first, last, and all the time and that the only reason he had not been voting for him was because he did not see how his man could possibly win.

In order to ascertain therefore, exactly how things lay, the Grant people called a caucus and had the satisfaction of having it attended by 25 out of 28 of their supporters. Merrill was not there because he had to go out with his wife, but Greenwell was. Merrill, however, sent word that he was for Grant just as staunchly as he had ever been and that there need be no fears that he would entertain a change of heart.

Greenwell also stood pat when he was questioned as to the rumors, and assured the San Diegoan that he had no intention whatever of switching his vote. The caucus was therefore a satisfactory one all through and the members present declared that they had no intention of deserting Grant's candidacy had not strengthened them in their support for him.

ALAMEDA DELEGATION COULD COME TO AN AGREEMENT.

The Grant caucus was not the only thing in that line, though, in town, for the members of the Alameda county delegation met at 7:30 in accordance with the call by Chairman Stratton and proceeded to discuss the Senatorial situation.

The session was an executive one, as it was deemed advisable in view of the present status of the Senatorial fight to chat things over among themselves in a manner that would not openly commit any one to whatever he might say. In accordance with this plan of action it was, therefore, decided to withhold from the press any reports as to what occurred at the meeting.

The proceedings were entirely informal. Senator Stratton stated that he had called the delegation together with the object of ascertaining if they could not arrive at some conclusion whereby the present deadlock could be broken. He said he thought the members of the Legislature should take the matter entirely in their own hands now that it was manifest that neither of the leaders could win, and he made suggestions in the line of throwing strength to each of the candidates in turn so as to see what they could do with it.

Senator Leavitt said that the only way in which this Senatorial issue can be settled is by a caucus. That is the time-honored method, he said, of handling a fight of this kind and he thought that the members should certainly be independent enough to get together and talk over a united plan of action, no matter who might endeavor to check them from doing so. He added that he did not see how there could possibly be any great change in the situation unless a caucus was held and he therefore thought it should be called and the representatives of the Republican party given an opportunity to talk over quietly among themselves the proposition of who is the best man to elect Senator.

A long discussion pro and con followed but it soon became apparent that because of the diverse interests represented in the delegation it would be impossible to accomplish anything. In view, however, of the general movement that is in progress for a caucus it was decided to let things go along that way for a day or two and then take the matter up again.

BURNS' FORCES WILL HOLD TOGETHER IN THE CONTEST.

One thing can be put down as certain and that is that there will be no diminution in Col. Burns' strength unless a caucus should be called and declare otherwise. Although the Colonel has made no positive statement himself upon the subject, it is easy to see that he is determined to fight things out to a finish, and those who are close to him say that the close of the Legislature will find either Col. Burns elected or else no Senator chosen at all.

It is easy to see why this decision has been arrived at. In view of the attacks upon him by the press Col. Burns feels that his reputation is at stake in the outcome, and if he cannot clear away the clouds by means of an absolute victory he can at least show that he possessed the confidence of enough members of the Legislature to enable him to hold the fort against all others.

For awhile it was whispered that if Col. Burns could not win himself he would throw all his strength to Knight, Barnes or Bulla and elect one of the three, but it is now declared that the Colonel has decided not to do anything of the kind, but will either win himself or will prevent anybody else from achieving the victory. He certainly holds the key of the situation, and those who know him, are satisfied that he is not very likely to surrender it to any one.

DEFEAT OF LEON JONES, the Republican, in his contest for Wardell's seat in the Assembly was in the nature of a surprise. For it has generally been conceded that a Republican Legislature would send contestants of its own party and a Democratic Legislature do the same as regards its members.

The turning down of Jones, therefore, shows what a condition of affairs exists at the present time. It is not now, only a question of a Republican against a Democrat, but of a Burns Republican against the anti-Burns forces. The result is that opposition develops in the party ranks and the aspirant has no choice.

There is a rumor about that Leon Denery will be turned down, too, in the Senate when his contest for Ash's seat takes place. This fight promises to be one of the most exciting on record in the election contest line, as there is bad blood between the forces on both sides.

NO CHANGES IN THE VOTING AT SACRAMENTO.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—The Senators and Assemblymen met at noon to-day as usual to vote for a United States Senator to succeed Senator Stephen M. White.

There were two ballots taken, but no change was made over the vote of yesterday.

The votes gained by Bulla yesterday played with him, but he made no further gains.

On the second ballot there was a break which relieved the monotony of the proceedings.

Dwyer (D.), instead of calling out his name of White, absent-mindedly said "Burns." There was confusion and a laugh, after which Dwyer corrected his vote.

After the second vote Ballou moved to adjourn, which motion was carried. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—On the first ballot the twenty-fourth for the session, no change over yesterday's vote. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—On the twenty-fifth ballot no change. Joint meeting adjourned.

PROBING THE STATE SCANDAL

Milton Green Was Sick and Unable to Appear Before the Assembly.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—Promptly at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon Alden Anderson, Speaker pro tem, called the Assembly to order, stating that it was the time appointed to have Milton J. Green appear before the bar of the Assembly to answer to contempt charges.

A doctor's certificate was here introduced, however, setting forth that Green is very ill and unable to appear without seriously endangering his life.

On motion of Johnson of Sacramento, the examination of Green went over until Monday afternoon at 2:30.

FIXING THE SCOPE OF THE INVESTIGATION.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—In the Assembly this morning Melick of the committee appointed to investigate the charges made in connection with the Senatorial fight asked that a Burns and a Grant man be appointed on the committee.

When he had done, Conroy of Los Angeles took the floor and introduced the following resolution:

"Resolved: That the committee on investigation, appointed by resolution adopted on the 18th day of January, 1899, be and the same is hereby instructed as to the order of its procedure, as follows:

"First—Said committee shall first complete and make final report to the Assembly concerning its investigations of the matters directly and specifically involved in the original charges which led to the appointment of the committee.

"Second—The committee shall formulate a statement of any further charges that shall have developed in the course of its investigation of said matters first submitted to it, and which said committee shall deem worthy of further attention, and the committee shall thereupon call for the further orders of the Assembly concerning the investigation by it of such additional charges; and be it further resolved, That said committee in its investigations shall not take into consideration testimony in the nature of irreparable rumors."

Conroy made a speech in favor of the resolution, but Johnson, Works, Valentine and Melick spoke against it.

The gentleman arguing against the resolution were of the opinion that a full investigation should be made, but that idle street rumors should not be given too much attention.

Burnett read from the original resolution and pointed out that the committee had been instructed to make a full investigation into all charges of corruption and gave it as his opinion that the committee should be permitted to continue its work undisturbed.

Several other speeches were made against interfering with the work of the committee and Conroy withdrew his resolution.

Melick introduced a resolution requiring a Burns and Grant man to be placed on the committee. Dibble introduced a substitute putting Johnson of Sacramento, a Burns man, and Works of San Diego, a Grant man, on the committee.

The resolution was finally laid on the table.

Melick thereupon gave notice that he would no longer serve on the committee except to make a report of the proceedings up to date.

Chairman Cosper introduced a report stating that Milton J. Green had refused to answer certain questions put to him by the committee.

Johnson introduced a resolution which was adopted, calling upon Green to appear before the bar of the Assembly at 2:30 this afternoon to show why he shall not be punished for contempt.

at Apia. A brief statement of these events has reached the Department through the United States' dispatch agent at San Francisco, but so far as can be gathered, it is not yet known just why Chief Justice Chambers decided that Melick, the German candidate for the Senate, was to be the victim of this intrigue.

It is suspected here that this decision was based on the use of improper influences by outside but interested parties in the election of the German, who, as established, would be sufficient to disqualify Melick under the strict terms of the treaty, which expressly provides for an unimpaired choice by the voters, according to their own established customs.

The United States Government must adhere to the terms of the treaty as long as it stands, that being a duty imposed upon the Government by the compact itself. So it is to be presumed, in the absence of any other agreement, that the United States must adhere to the terms of the treaty.

Mr. Perkins replied to Mr. White, saying that the recent election in California had shown that the people endorsed the expansion policy of the President, and that he (Perkins) accepted this verdict in the light of an instruction to himself.

GOOD POLITICS AT THE CAPITOL.

Colonel Burns Controls the Situation in the Senatorial Fight.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO, January 20.—That the overnight efforts of the Grant men to keep their forces together had proved successful was shown when the balloting took place today, for, despite all rumors and predictions, no change was made.

There was great tension as the roll was being called, especially as the names were approached that it was thought might break, and when the end was reached and nothing had happened, a pronounced murmur went up.

Every one acknowledges now that Burns controls the situation and the only question left unanswered is how he will be able to take advantage of it.

It is about certain that all his hopes are built on getting a caucus, and if the unrest that is now apparent continues in the present direction the probabilities are that he will win that way.

The members are all weary, and a break in any particular candidate such as Grant would probably result in a slump all along the line.

From good source I learn that the real reason four votes went to Bulla yesterday was because it was feared there was going to be a movement in favor of Barnes and that it was desired to offset it by pretending that Bulla was the next man entitled to consideration.

This shows some very fine political work is in progress, despite the fact that so little appears upon the surface.

Speaker Wright was in his chair again this morning, smiling and unembarrassed.

Things have taken a peculiar turn in the Investigation Committee, for Meade and Sanford, the minority members, see a good opportunity to make Democratic politics by turning every possible thing that may cause trouble.

The Republicans realize this but find that it is hard to interpose objections, as otherwise it will be thought that they fear developments.

The investigation may therefore drag along for several days.

The Oakland bill amending the teachers' annuity act and four measures of interest to the University were introduced this morning.

Army Beef Was So Vile That Even the Flies Would Not Touch It.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Major W. H. Daly, Chief Surgeon with General Miles, whose field service stretched from Tampa to Porto Rico, and whose report condemning the beef furnished the expeditionary forces created a sensation some weeks ago, made his long-awaited appearance as a witness before the war investigating commission today.

Surgeon Daly's report was the strongest in language of those submitted by General Miles in substantiation of his attack on the beef supplies.

Dr. Daly has been too ill to appear here. He was accompanied by General Miles' own stenographer, despite the presence of the commission's official stenographer.

On being sworn the witness identified the report submitted as his own, changing its date, however, from September 23 to October 2. He was willing, he said, to stand by his report. It was wholly voluntary, and was not called out by any request or in obedience to any circular letter, so far as he remembered.

He had heard nothing of any official circular calling for reports. At Ponce, however, some time in August, he had communicated to General Miles some observations regarding beef supplies. On ship-board at Tampa, he had noticed a quarter of beef hanging free in the sun, and he became interested in the experiment of having fresh slaughtered beef placed under such most climatic conditions to see how long it could stand it.

"I observed," he said, "that the flies, especially the bull flies, did not affect it, but not a single fly if they did, they got away from it very quickly."

He had cut off a piece of that beef at Tampa and cooked it, but it neither smelled nor tasted naturally. Later he helped the men cook some horses, and subsequently he had trouble with his stomach, which he first attributed to the activity of the flies. Then he noticed indications of chemical presence, that brought back recollections of chemical stuff he had used to preserve cork in a hunting expedition in the Rocky Mountains some years before. All that day at Tampa and the next he had an unpleasant taste.

In that previous hunting expedition he had analyzed the chemical preservative and found it to contain borax and salicylic acids. These were to be used externally on the skin, but he had rubbed it into the raw flesh and also injected it. Questioned as to these ingredients, he said borax was not safe to be used for ordinary medical purposes, while the salicylic acid was most nauseous, loathsome and disgusting, almost always destructive of digestion.

AGUINALDO'S EMISSARIES.

Profess to Find Great Anti-Expansion Sentiment.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 20.—J. Lascado, M. Marti Burgos and J. Luna, commissioner representatives of Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader of the Philippine Islands, passed twenty minutes in St. Louis today. They arrived at 8 o'clock on the Pacific Coast Limited of the Iron Mountain route and left for Washington, D. C., shortly after, over the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railway. Their mission is to persuade Uncle Sam to relinquish his hold on the Philippine Islands.

Senator Marti Burgos, a captain on Aguinaldo's staff, acted as spokesman of the party. He said:

"We reached San Francisco December 14th and have since been studying sentiment in the United States on the Philippine question. Of the hundreds of leading Americans with whom we have conversed we find the vast majority are opposed to annexation of the islands to this country."

"For 37 years we have been under the yoke of Spanish tyranny. Give us liberty and progress," will be the watchword of our citizens."

Regarding Iloilo Senator Burgos declared Aguinaldo would think well before allowing the Americans to take Iloilo. "It is a big city," he said, "and a prize that we captured through our own efforts."

Asked if there would be a specific plan mentioned for disposing of the Philippine Islands to the natives, Senator Burgos said:

"No, I think not, but we have a proposition under consideration which I cannot make public at this time. We will meet our emissaries, Aguinaldo, at Washington and consult with him before seeing the President."

LOS ANGELES, January 20.—The Chamber of Commerce is making an attempt to have a branch of the hydrographic office of the Navy Department located at either San Pedro or this city. Lieutenant V. H. There is now no branch on the coast south of San Francisco.

ST. PAUL, Minn., January 20.—The State Senate today concurred in the House resolution favoring the speedy ratification of the United States Senate of the peace treaty.

EXPANSION FINDS BOLD CHAMPION.

Senator Nelson Raps Tillman Over the Knuckles.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—M. Caffery of Louisiana offered the following concurrent resolution:

"That the President be and he is hereby requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to furnish to the Senate copies of any communications received by the State Department from any representative or agents of the so-called Philippine Republic, and also to furnish any information in his possession or any documents filed before the State Department relating to the Philippine Republic, together with the number of inhabitants thereof, held respectively under the control of the American forces and the authority of the so-called Philippine Republic, showing particularly what islands or parts of islands, if any, can in any event be delivered by Spain to the United States."

The resolution went over under objection.

Allison of Iowa endeavored to secure unanimous consent for the taking of a vote on the McCarver bill at 2 o'clock today, but Mr. Caffery objected.

A House joint resolution was passed receding from the Senate bill, and the House then adjourned.

Mr. Nelson of Minnesota was then recognized to make a speech on the subject of expansion. He said that the address was a constitutional argument in support of the United States' right to acquire and govern foreign territory. He maintained it was no longer an unsettled question; that this country had the power not only to acquire foreign territory by discovery, conquest or treaty, and also to govern territory so acquired. That the United States had been seized by a decision of the Supreme Court, and was scarcely longer open to debate.

He referred to the territory that had been secured in 1898 by the United States Government, and declared that in no single case had the people of the territory acquired been consulted or their consent secured.

In the two cases of Texas and Hawaii, we had more nearly approached the point of consulting the inhabitants than in any other, but even in those cases there was but a shadow of consultation. In that of Hawaii, less than 5,000 of the inhabitants had been asked for their consent to annexation.

In the course of his debate he said the contention was being made that the people of the territory proposed to be acquired were not fit for citizenship in our republic. Admitting that the contention was correct, it was quite true that the people of the territory proposed to be acquired were not fit for citizenship in our republic. # HAWAIIAN BILL SOON COMES UP.

Influx of Servile Labor Makes Quick Action Imperative.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The friends of the Hawaiian bill in the House of Representatives will make an effort to take it up at an early day, and they express confidence that it will get a hearing. The bill was agreed to in committee some days ago, and Chairman Knox of the Committee on Territories is drawing up the report.

There was some idea that the bill might be taken up this week, but owing to the press of business it went over with the understanding that a strong effort would be made next week to get a hearing then or soon after.

Mr. Knox and Mr. Hill, the latter being one of the Hawaiian commissioners, says that no purpose is manifested to postpone the legislation until the next Congress meets. They say also that it is imperative that legislation of some character shall be enacted. One reason cited for this is that there has been a large influx of Japanese immigrants in Hawaii since the passage of the bill, and that some 10,000 contract labor Japanese will be brought into Hawaii and then into the United States. For this reason the extension of United States immigration restrictions to Hawaii is held to be of first importance. A similar view is taken as to extending the United States customs and revenue law to the islands. The latter extension is effected by a special bill, which has already passed the House and is pending in the Senate. There is a growing disposition among those interested in the legislation to secure the passage of the bill as a whole very soon, and in the event that this is not practicable, to secure the enactment of such special features that are more pressing.

STORY OF THE SAMOAN TROUBLE.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

HAMBURG, Jan. 20.—According to news received here from Samoa, Chief Justice Chambers on December 31 annulled the election of Mataafa, who was returned by a six-to-five majority, and declared Malietoa Tanu, the son of the late King Malietoa, who is still a minor, to be king.

The three consuls recognized Mataafa's people as a provisional government. Tanu's Tamasese, another claimant for the throne and Chief Justice Chambers, it is added, went on board a British warship, when upon the provisional government closed the Chief Court. The British warship then landed a detachment of blue jackets, and later the court was reopened under the protests of the provisional government.

ARMY BILL SET FOR NEXT WEEK.

Debate on the Measure to Be Strictly Limited.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—When the House met to-day the pending question was on the motion of Mr. Swanson to recommit the Philippine appropriation bill with instructions to strike from the paragraph appropriating $300,000 for mail facilities in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands the words "newly acquired territory." The Democrats opposed this language. To avoid a roll call, which had been ordered, Mr. Lusk, in charge of the bill, asked unanimous consent that the words be stricken out, as they were unnecessary. There was no objection, and the bill was passed. A small urgent deficiency bill carrying an appropriation of $21,000 was passed without objection.

Mr. Hull, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, asked unanimous consent that the army appropriation bill be taken up next Tuesday with a provision for fifteen hours' general debate.

Mr. Bailey said he was willing to agree to some additional time was allowed for additional debate by holding night sessions.

Mr. Hull modified his request to include provision for night sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and as modified it was agreed to.

A bill was passed authorizing the construction of a three-story school building at Orem, S. D. On motion of Mr. Perkins of South Carolina, the House agreed to adjourn over until Monday.

The House then began consideration of the private calendar.

DR. WOOLSEY IS AFTER DR. DUNN.

A STOCKTON GIRL HIDIOUS FATE OF REDDY SAID THAT HE WAS GUILTY.

Brings an Action to Secure an Accounting.

The business difficulties of Dr. E. H. Woolsey and Dr. J. P. Dunn are now to be tried in court. Dr. Woolsey through his attorneys, Reed & Nussbaum, has brought suit to dissolve the partnership which has existed between these physicians and also asks for a settlement of their accounts.

The complaint alleges that on August 13, 1895, the defendant and plaintiff entered into an agreement whereby they each agreed jointly to possess, lease, manage and control the two upper floors and attic of the building on the northwest corner of Broadway and Twelfth street. The agreement provided that they would share alike in the profits or losses that resulted from the enterprise. On September 1, 1895, they took possession of the floors.

The enterprise did not prove a success. The profits have been greatly exceeded by the expenses. Dr. Woolsey now wishes to dissolve the partnership because he believes that the business can be carried on only at a loss to both parties concerned.

Plaintiff states that no settlement of accounts has yet been made, and prays for judgment and decree as follows: First--That an account be taken of all the accounts and transactions of said co-partnership from the commencement thereof and of the moneys received and expended by each member of said co-partnership in relation thereto, and of all accounts and transactions between any of the members thereof.

Second--That the property of said co-partnership be ascertained and sold and the partnership debts and liabilities be ascertained and settled.

Third--That such judgment and decree be entered and given to one against the other as may be proper.

Fourth--That said co-partnership be dissolved.

Fifth--For such other and further relief as may seem meet to equity and for costs.
